

Pacific Fertility Center- San Francisco

April 2018 DSR Facebook Group:

My egg donor also stated she was open to contact. In fact, when it came time for the original recipient (embryo donation was how we came to create our family) they had to have her approval in addition to the recipients, she agreed and confirmed open access. When I called the clinic for her contact info they denied my request stating it was an anonymous donation. It clearly stated in her docs she was open to contact. Very infuriating. Luckily I found her on my own. Knowing they had talked to her recently and KNEW we both wanted contact and still refused is very unethical imho.
